

CIRCULAR: EHS/PM/01/13
Dated: 06th February 2013

To: All Shipping Lines, Shipping Agents, Ship Owners, Vessel Operators, Shippers, Transport Companies and Other Interested Parties

Subject: Safety & Environment Induction Training for Port Users

Please be reminded that as per Trakhees- EHS Port Regulations, Section 3.14.2: Induction training, It is required that

1. General induction training shall be given to all persons who are to enter and/or work in ports.
2. This training shall cover the general hazards associated with ports, which are often quite different from those encountered in other industries.
3. The training shall also include site-specific hazards and relevant local rules, emergency arrangements and the need to cooperate with other persons working in the port.

In order to comply with the above requirements, DP World conducts Safety & Environment Induction Training for all Port users. Hence your staff is required to attend the training to keep the port and your employees safe, clean and accident free.

Access to the terminal will be restricted from March 10th 2013 for any visitors who wish to renew or apply for a new temporary or permanent terminal access pass who have not undertaken the compulsory induction requirement.

Please contact DP World Operations Training Centre on 04 887 6633 to make a booking for your safety induction and the inductions cannot be conducted without a prior appointment.
